

FROM THE DESK OF
BERNIE ECCLESTONE

17th June 2014

To : All Journalists

To avoid any further misunderstanding, I can confirm the proposed Press Release was sent on the 13th June 2014 concerning the Nürburgring (attached). We amended this as follows.

Bernie Ecclestone
CEO of the Formula One Group

London, this week. Mr. Ecclestone and Mr. Wild did agree to enter into a long term partnership to bring the F1 German Grand Prix to the Nürburgring.

The aim is to run at least the next five years every year the prestigious event at the Nürburgring.

This would give the event more value for all parties involved both partners believe.

The spectators will know where and when to go, Sponsors and Partners can make up their planning with better visibility for the years to come.

The future will see although a new financial model between the two parties involved, basically revenues will go up to a certain level to the organisers and above that level to the Nürburgring.

Further both parties did agree to start immediately the communication to potential long term sponsors and partners.
